Grade 6 Reading Comprehension Worksheet
Alexander Graham Bell

Alexander Graham Bell was born on March 3, 1847, in Edinburgh, Scotland. During his youth, he experienced strong influences that had a profound effect on his later life. His grandfather and father were experts on the mechanics of voice and elocution. Alexander's mother, who was nearly deaf, became an accomplished pianist and inspired him to undertake big challenges. At age 12, while playing with a friend in a grain mill, he noticed the slow process of husking the wheat grain. He went home and built a device with rotating paddles and rail brushes that easily removed the husks from the grain.

By age 16, Alexander had joined his father in his work with the deaf and soon assumed full charge of his father's London operations. In July, 1870, the family settled in Ontario, Canada. There, he set up a workshop to continue his study of the human voice.

Graham Bell is best known for his invention of the telephone. While trying to discover the secret to transmitting multiple messages on a single wire, Bell heard the sound of a plucked string along some of the electrical wire. One of Bell's assistants, Thomas A. Watson was trying to reactivate a telephone transmitter. After hearing the sound, Bell believed he could send the sound of a human voice over the wire. After receiving a patent on March 7, 1876, for transmitting sound along a single wire, he successfully transmitted human speech on March 10th. Bell's telephone patent was one of the most valuable patents ever issued. The Bell Telephone Company was organized on July 9, 1877.

On July 11, 1877, Alexander Graham Bell married Mable Hubbard. In 1880, he established the Volta Laboratory, an experimental facility devoted to scientific discovery. He also continued his work with the deaf, establishing the American Association to Promote Teaching of Speech to the Deaf in 1890. In the remaining years of his life Bell worked on a number of projects. He devoted a lot of time to exploring flight, starting with the tetrahedral kite in 1890s. In 1907, Bell formed the Aerial Experiment Association with Glenn Curtiss. The group developed several flying machines, including the Silver Dart. The Silver Dart was the first powered machine flown in Canada. He later worked on hydrofoils and set a world record for speed for this type of boat.

In January 1915, Bell was invited to make the first transcontinental phone call. From New York, he spoke with his former associate Thomas Watson in San Francisco. Bell died on August 2, 1922, in Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia, Canada. The entire telephone system was shut down for one minute in tribute to his life.

A Nonfiction Passage About Veterans Day

Veterans Day

What is Veterans Day?
Veterans Day is a national holiday created to celebrate and honor all of America's veterans. A veteran is a man or woman who has served in America's armed forces. The armed forces include the United States Air Force, Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard. Veterans Day is celebrated each year on the 11th day of the 11th month, which is November. November 11th was chosen to honor veterans because World War I officially ended on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month. The holiday first began in 1919 when President Woodrow Wilson declared a day should be set aside to show thanks to those who serve in America's armed forces.

Why is Veterans Day Important?
Veterans Day is an important day to reflect and give thanks to those who are willing to fight for America. Members of America's armed forces show bravery and selflessness every day. They often work very dangerous jobs in order to keep Americans and people around the world safe. Many times, they also have to travel and be away from their families for long periods of time. Without veterans and those who serve in the military, our country would not be as safe.

How Do People Celebrate Veterans Day?
There are many different ways to celebrate Veterans Day. Because it is a national holiday, many schools, businesses, and government offices are closed. Having a day off work or school allows people time to reflect and show their gratitude to veterans. Many parades and ceremonies also take place to honor veterans. People can also honor veterans by personally thanking them for their service or writing a thank you letter.

National Veterans Day Ceremony
A national ceremony is held to honor and thank all veterans who served in each year on Veterans Day or 11/11 in the morning. The ceremony takes place at the Arlington National Cemetery in Arlington, Virginia. Many veterans attend the ceremony each year.

Glossary
grateful - to show thanks and appreciation selfless - to put the needs and wants of other people before your self veteran - a man or woman who has served in the military
